Dear Friends,

This letter answers some of the most common questions about actions Caffè Lena is taking to make your visit safe. New York State has reopened indoor performing arts venues at 33% capacity, which for us means 34 people.

In addition to the careful screening, thorough cleaning, and strict adherence to CDC/DOH safety protocols that enabled us to bring more than 600 artists to our stage during the pandemic without a single instance of infection or spread, we have introduced some new precautions to give you a concert experience that is safe and delightful:

- Your party will have a private couch or table. For the foreseeable future, we will not be combining parties in one seating area. We have seating for 2, 3 and 4-person parties.
- We use portable HEPA filtration units in the performance space. They run on high before and after the show, and they continue to clean the air on a quiet setting during the performance. In addition, UV lighting has been installed in our HVAC ducts to further purify the air.
- Our staff, volunteers and performers have been vaccinated or have received a negative test prior to the show.
- Our kitchen is open and our volunteers are ready to take your order for some of our most popular staples: chocolate chip cookies warm from the oven, the farm-to-table cheese sampler, FTO coffee, tea, soft drinks and a carefully selected variety of wine and beer. See our Menu page for current offerings. If you order something to eat or drink you are welcome to remove your mask while you dine.

If you have questions about safety, or have a special need to discuss, please don't hesitate to reach out to us at 518-583-0022 or email sales@caffelena.org.
